Dear Dr. Henney:

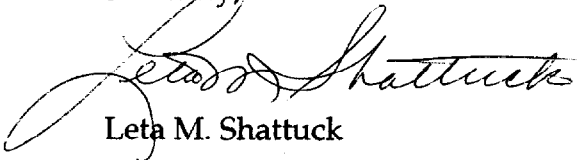

If information I have read is true, it would seem genetically engineered foods are proceeding at a fast and furious pace.

Please add my name to the millions who feel strongly that such foods need to be labeled, giving us a choice if we feel unsure of their virtues.

As a doctor, you are more aware than I of the complexities of introducing such foods into the mainstream, and the need for long-term study and research, and I am confident you will use your best judgment in this matter.

Thank you for your efforts.

Sincerely,

Leta M. Shattuck
